VOL. CXXXII—No. 220. ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1916. PRICE 2 CENTS

ANNOUNCEMENT TO GAZETTE READERS.

The Gazette takes pleasure in announcing that Mr. William Albert Smoot, Jr., has become identified with this newspaper, and, as may be seen by reference to the list of officers appearing at the head of the editorial page, has been elected Vice-President of the Gazette Corporation.

For some time past it has been the earnest desire and purpose of its owners to build up the Gazette and thereby enable it to wield a wider and more potent influence for good—to make of it a newspaper which shall be representative of the whole city along commercial, industrial and social lines. It is with that end in view that Mr. Smoot has connected himself with it, and he firmly believes that with united effort put forth on the part of its citizens, aggressively sustained by the Gazette, Alexandria's future looks bright with promise of a much larger growth and greater prosperity.

His residence in Alexandria since his birth and the position he holds as Vice-President and Treasurer of the well-known firm of W. A. Smoot and Company, which has been known as one of the city's business landmarks since 1865, renders further introduction unnecessary to Gazette readers. As the first president of Alexandria's Chamber of Commerce, the duties of which he very acceptably discharged for two years, and as director and chairman of its present Transportation committee, he has been intimately associated and brought into close contact with the various business interests of the city, and the knowledge thus gained should make his advice and counsel of especial value to this newspaper in its efforts to labor for their advancement and that of the city in general.

Fortunately located, with water transportation to the sea, six lines of steel arteries diverging in as many different directions, Alexandria forms a natural gateway to the vast Southern country as well as the north, east and west, and to take advantage of its opportunities is a duty which we believe its citizens owe to themselves and in which the Gazette will take especial pleasure in aiding them.

TO THE CITIZENS OF ALEXANDRIA.

In order that those who are not regular subscribers to the Alexandria Gazette may have an opportunity to see the paper, several hundred copies of this issue will be delivered to homes in the city free of charge.

Should it meet with the approval of any who do not take it the editor of the Gazette will be pleased to receive their orders to have it delivered to them daily.

No reasonable effort will be spared to make the Gazette a newspaper which shall properly represent the entire city of Alexandria and its various interests. In doing so we sincerely trust and hope that it will not only merit out receive the hearty support of the people, irrespective of race or creed.

RIOTING IN NEW YORK

Orders Issued to Police to Put Down Disturbance at Once

WANT RECOGNITION.

Those Who Obstruct Progress of Public Vehicles May Serve Terms in The Penitentiary

New York, Sept. 20—After a night of the worst rioting since the beginning of the present strike of street car men in New York, in which subway, elevated, and surface cars were attacked, orders were issued today to the New York police that rioting must be put down at all costs.

The authorities are convinced that the striking men do not tend to abandon their fight for recogntion without a most desperate struggle, and arrangements are being made for a more rigid guard than ever has been necessary for protection of the trains.

Twenty arrests had been made early today in connection with the rioting, and of the men now held fifteen have been charged with commission of a felony.

This is a broad charge which can be made to cover the actions of any persons obstructing the progress of public vehicles, or attacking its occupants.

Conviction on this charge means imprisonment for not less than five nor more than twenty years.

It is the first time since the strike began that any men arrested for taking part in violent demonstrations have booked on this charge.

As a further safeguard to trains and surface the authorities today equipped fifteen more automobiles for patrol duty. Twenty of these already had been in service, and they were kept busy last night answering calls from every district in the city.

These machines are loaded with several patrolmen and a lieutenant

BULGARS WIPED OUT

Paris, Sept. 20. —The Serbians have captured the well-fortified hill 2,625, east of Berna, the highest peak in the Kamakchalan range, after the most violent hand-to-hand fighting, it was officially announced today. The Bulgarians resisted with great stubbornness until they were practically wiped out, only fifty prisoners falling into Serbian hands.

Near Garesnika the Bulgarians made vain counter attacks, but were dispersed by French seventy-fives. On the left wing the enemy is still resisting on the heights of Pisonderi.

London, Sept. 20.—Serbian troops have advanced to within seven miles of Monastir and are engaged in sharp fighting with the Bulgars, said an Athens dispatch today.

A Central News dispatch said it was learned from reliable sources that the German and Bulgarian staffs have left Monastir.

The Bulgarians have been driven from one trench position after another, and much of the fighting is going on in the open. For the first time since the Balkan fighting began large cavalry forces are in clashes at several points along the Serbo-Greek frontier.

Northeast of Lake Ostrovo, the Bulgarians who were driven from the heights of Kamachalan have halted their retreat and are counter attack-

As a result of a short conference with about half the membership of the committees engaged in preparations for the great meeting to begin October 8, hard-headed, level-headed, brainy business men determined to abandon the idea of holding the meetings in the Armory with its limited capacity and to build in this city a tabernacle for the evangelist to seat not less than 3,000 people at a cost of approximately $2,000. They voted also to do these things; Buy 210 benches from the Alexandria committee; secure the privilege of erecting the new tabernacle on some centrally located lot; provide a choir of 500 voices; furnish a corps of 60 ushers; hold a dedicatory service in the Tabernacle on Friday, October 6th., under the direction of the local Ministerial Union."

He is the possessor of a fine voice and used it with excellent effect. The visitors were given a round of cheers, which they richly deserved. They were a fine looking body of men.

THE PRODIGAL GIRL.

We all have a heart for the prodigal boy,
Who was caught in sin's mad whirl,
And we welcome him back with songs of joy,
But what of the prodigal girl?

For the prodigal boy there's an open door
And a father's bounteous fare;
And though he is wretched, sick and poor,
He is sure of welcome there.

But what of the girl who has gone astray,
Who has lost in the battle of sin?
Say, do we forgive in the same sweet way,
We've always forgiven him?

Does the door stand ajar, as if to say
"Come, enter, you need not fear;
I've been open thus since you went away,
Now close to the second year?"

Or, do we with hand of hellish pride,
Close and bolt the door,
And swear, "While heaven and earth abide
She will enter here no more?"

O, Christ! It seems we have never learned
The lesson taught in the sand.
For even yet the woman is spurned
And stoned in a christian land.

Down in to the slough we hurl her back,
Then turn around with a smile
And welcome the boy from the sinful track,
Though he may have been more vile.

We all have a heart for the prodigal boy,
Who was caught in sin's mad whirl,
And we welcome him back with songs of joy,
But what of the prodigal girl?

AUDIENCE 3,000 DISMISSED ABRUPTLY

NO BENEDICTION PRONOUNCED AT LAST NIGHT'S SERVICE

Evangelist Smith Brings Meeting to a Sudden Ending —City Policemen and Firemen Attend in a Body.

Last night was the first time since the revival services began that an audience has been diamissed without a benediction. At the conclusion of an earnest appeal, to which eight persons responded, Evangelist Smith suddenly said, "I have done all I can, you may go."

"The people remained standing for a moment, as if uncertain as to his meaning. Noticing that they did not start to leave he said. "You are dismissed, I'm through." Finally realizing that the meeting was at an end the three thousand people began slowly filing out of the tent.

The story of Jacob formed the basis for the sermon of the evening, in which the mean, despicable traits in his character were pointed out; how he cheated his brother Esau out of his birthright and followed it up by cheating and deceiving his father. He called attention to the fact that Jacob represented some modern so-called Christians, who will get a brother in a tight place and then "do" him. Jacob planned to do just as he did. So do the men of today, said the speaker. According to the statements of the evangelist, Jacob was a prototype of the unprincipled lawyers—found that he could take advantage of his brother and did it.

"No, all the Jacobs didn't die when he did. They're here in the city — you'll find them in the stores, in the council, yes, even in the churches! Are you here tonight? Are you here who put a blister on your sister's face? If so, write your name down trickster!

Referring to the covering up of sin, he said that if a girl happened to go wrong, she was shunned by society, shut out from the home and that most of them went down to their death in the red light district, while the devil who was responsible for her ruin, if he could cover up his meaness, would be received socially and "blessed until further orders."

"Sin always breeds fear," said the speaker. "There are men here tonight to whom certain faces recall the past — they're afraid to meet them. But we will have to meet God some day!

"Jacob had to slave seven years for his wife and then seven more and then woke up the next morning to find he had married the wrong woman. Old Laban made him settle. Sin always breeds slavery!

"I talked with a man Sunday night who told me he would give a million dollars, if he had it, if he could quit the drink habit. God never intended we should be slaves, but there are probably hundreds here tonight who are.

"Be sure your sin will find you out. You sin and you'll pay. Listen! Young men, if you have been an awful sinner, God can and will forgive you, but nature never!

"If you, young woman, marry a man to reform him, God help you, for the man wouldn't marry you to reform you! You girls of Alexandria demand of the man what he demands of you. Don't cheat yourselves. Say to him 'you believe in a virtuous girl, how about you?

"You young women and Christ can save Alexandria—you and the devil can damn it.

"No man can sin alone. When you sin your wife has to suffer. If I should go out and sin tonight my wife and three children would suffer and my father, mother and brother. It costs a great deal, young man, when you take your first glass of liquor, but it costs your mother a great deal more. It costs a great deal, young woman, when you go out and sin, but it costs your father and mother a great deal more.

"Eight years ago I was tired of sin. The Son of God came along and took me in. I don't claim to be a saint, but I know I'm not the man I was eight years ago."

God knows no difference between the adulterer and the adulteress.

You girls demand what the man demands of you—virtue.

Sin always breeds fear.

Sin always breeds bondage.

Playing for prizes is not a whit less gambling because it is done in Christian homes.

Christians who play cards, dance and go to theaters are doing more to damn church life than all the harlots and saloons in the world.

The dance is the training ship for hell.

A masque ball is about the only thing some Christians can lead.

Talk about dancing with your own wife—you'd just as soon shuck corn in the moon light. It's the other fellow's wife you want to dance with.

There is no virtue coming down the aisle and shaking my hand. You can be converted on the street.

You say there is no devil. Who is doing his work in Alexandria?

There's a good deal that's devilish in this old town!

WOULD ALTER DIXIE

New York, Sept. 20.—New York high school teachers have appointed a committee which will ask music publishers and others to eliminate negro dialect and make various other changes in songs.

In "The Star-Spangled Banner" "perilous fight" is to be changed to "clouds of the fight," if the teachers have their way, and the uniform key will be changed from B flat to A flat to make the singing easier for the average voice.

In "Dixie" "de" will be changed to "the" and "nebber" to "never." The teachers say it is difficult to teach pure English in the schools, with the number of children of foreign parents growing and negro dialect confuses the little ones.

The committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to use their exertions in behalf of the movement to induce Secretary Daniels to locate the new government armorplant at Alexandria met this morning and discussed their plans. It was determined to hold another meeting during the next few wdays when arrangements will be made to call upon the secretary, at which time they will be accompanied by Congressman Charles C. Carlin.

THE TAMPICO AFFAIR.

The war with Spain was precipitated by a Republican Administration, in one under which Theodore Roosevelt was Assistant Secretary of the Navy by sending the Maine to Havana when the resentment of the Spaniards to American interference in Cuban affairs was so fierce that the American flag must inevitably have acted on Spaniards as red does on a bull's emotions.

The New York Tribune, organ of the Administration, said the sending of the Maine would have been extremely injudicious if the relations between the United States and Spain had not been of the most amicable character. But The Tribune knew perfectly well that Spanish feeling was inflamed against the United States. Still, the McKinley Administration, after forcing the removal of Weyler and wringing other concessions from Spain, sent the Maine to Havana, on a so-called visit of courtesy.

Spanish feeling was such that Consul General Lee in Havana sent a protest against the visit of the Maine, but the only reply of the Navy Department, Theodore Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary, was that it was too late; the Maine was already ordered to Havana. She went. Some persons never known blew her up, unless (which some of our officers have always believed) she was destroyed by an internal explosion; and we had a war with Spain.

The Philadelphia Record in an editorial on the subject says this bit of the history of 18 years ago we recall because the same Theodore Roosevelt, who wanted the navy sent out to sink Cervera's fleet on its way to Cuba, without any declaration of war, and while diplomacy was trying to arrange the Maine issue, is now furious at the present Administration because it left the rescue of Americans endangered in Tampico to British and German war vessels. Mr. Roosevelt helped to get the country into one war, and he is furious because an opportunity was lost of getting it into another war.

There was serious rioting in Tampico, up the river. In the port of Tampico were American, English and German war vessels. The American vessels might have gone up the river to the city to rescue the Americans, but the sight of the American flag would have infuriated the populace, which was already attacking Americans, and there would have been a massacre.

The important thing was to rescue the Americans alive, and not to shell the city, or to precipitate war. Mr. Roosevelt would not have cared whether any Americans survived or not; he would have delighted in shelling the city, and delighted still more in causing a war with Mexico, in which this swashbuckler would have appeared at the head of another band of Rough Riders.

But to the American and British Admirals the important thing seemed to be to save American lives. They were convinced that the appearance of American war vessels at the city of Tampico would cause a massacre. Both were convinced that English and German vessels could go up the river to the city without infuriating the Mexican rioters. Therefore the rescue of the American population of the city was left to the British and German vessels. We saved the lives of our people and avoided a collision that would have caused war.

This is the Tampico affair over which Mr. Roosevelt has just broken out in passionate denuciation of the Administration for saving the lives of Americans without shelling a Mexican city and involving the country in war.

PROGRESS OF THE REVIVAL.

Every seat in the gospel tent on upper King street was filled again last night and great interest was manifested in the services. The hymns were sung with spirit and the sermon enlisted the undivided attention of the large multitude of all creeds and divers nationalities. The police force attended in a body, as did also the firemen of the city. The chorister first requested the firemen and then the police to render choruses, which they did, and received the plaudits of all present.

Gypsy Smith's address was one of the most spirited he has delivered in Alexandria. He took as the basis of his remarks the story of the Patriarch Jacob, and showed the inevitable consequences of wrong doing, and the sufferings and anxieties which are sure to follow. In other words, they who sow the wind shall reap the whirlwind.

While, so far, the number of persons who have gone forward and shook the evangelist's hand, indicating their purpose to enlist under the standard of the cross, has not been as large as we had wished, but we all feel we have much for which to be thankful. We are told that there is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner who repenteth. We have seen many during the past few nights go to the front—honest souls we have every reason to believe—who desire to be sincere witnesses for the truth in future. The fact that old Alexandria has been used to bring joy around the throne eternal is a truth beyond our comprehension. There were but one hundred and twenty believers, male and female, gathered on the eve of Pentecost, but when that day had fully come, 3,000 were added to the church. As we suggested a day or two ago, there is no cause for despondency because the heavens have not, so far, deluged us with blessings. A Pentecostal shower may follow these gospel meetings, the good effect of which may be felt long after the evangelist has gone from us.

NO RELIC OF SERVITUDE

Recommendation by a commission appointed by the general conference of the Episcopal Church to eliminate the word "obey" in the marriage service appears to meet with the approval of the suffragist leaders, but they look askance on the wedding ring, which is part of the new ritual, as a symbolic relic of the servitude of women. The Richmond Journel in this connection says this is a mistaken notion. Instead of a relic of servitude, the ring is a token of relegation of power. In ancient days the ring was worn as a seal, by which orders were signed, and the delivery of a ring was indication that the giver endowed the person who received it with all the power he himself possessed. The woman who had the ring could issue commands as her husband, and was in every respect his representative. We find in Genesis 38: 18 Judah saying to his daughter-in-law: "What pledge shall I give thee?" and she said, "Thy signet." And he gave it to her." Again in Esther 3: 10 Ahasuerus having pledged his word to Haman to do a certain thing, the king's scribes were called in to take dictation from Haman: "And the ruler of every people of every province, according to the writing thereof, and to every people after their language: in the name of King Ahasuerus was it written and sealed with the king's ring." When Pharaoh made Joseph ruler over the land of Egypt we are told in Genesis 41:42 that "Pharaoh took off his ring from his hand and put it upon Joseph's hand." Thus, with the king's seal ring, he was able to have his orders promptly executed. In legendary lore King Solomon among other wonderful things, is said to have sealed up the refractory Jins (Genii of the Arabian Nights' entertainment) in jars, with his ring, and cast them into the Red Sea. Macrobius, a Latin writer and eminent critic who flourished toward the close of the fourth century, in a composition called Saturnalia, a miscellaneous collection of antiquities and criticisms, wrote: "In the Roman espousals, the man gave the woman a ring by way of pledge, and the woman put it on the third finger of her left hand, because it was believed that a nerve ran from that finger to the heart." Our point is that the ring is not a symbolic relic of woman's servitude, but rather, of man's pledge to her of his confidence in her ability to set for him. We vote to retain the ring.

DIED OF "BROKEN HEART"

A "broken heart" because he had no work to do, was said by his son to have been the cause of the death of John Agnew, 84 years old, who on July 1, last after sixty-four years' service for Chicago, went on the pension roll. "I have nothing to live for now," he is quoted by his son as having said. "Rather than quit I would work for nothing." But the municipal pension law had to be enforced. John Agnew had to step down and out. In the council chamber of the City Hall, a few days later, Mr. Agnew received his first pension check. The occasion was celebrated by various speakers, including Mayor Thompson. When they congratulated John Agnew on his long service, his eyes filled with tears. "This idleness is killing me," he told his son later. "I'm afraid I'll never get used to it. What a blessing is work." His family tried to cheer him up, but he grew worse and died Sunday.

The above is likely to throw many who have long been in the harness into serious soliloquies. Horace Greeley could not tolerate the thought of being forced to stand aside and see others conduct the New York Tribune which he had founded and in which his life was centered. It is said that Greeley, shortly before his death, wrote an article for the paper which was deemed inadvisable at the time and laid aside temporarily. Greeley never rallied when he realized he was no longer regarded as the pulse of the Tribune. Cowardin, one of the greatest of Virginia editors, when from physical infirmities was compelled to lay aside the pen and dictate articles for the Richmond Dispatch, realized he had seen his day. He lingered but a short time afterward.

Newspaper work is especially exhilerating to those in love with the calling. Those born to the business never grow weary when they have actual occurrences to describe or texts for articles. All they want is something to write about, and those who have long been in the harness feel a chill creep over them when they realize the time is near when they will be compelled to stand aside and spend the advanced evening of life in idleness. Killing time with such is the most cruel of all occupations.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Under the above heading the Gazette will be pleased to give reasonable space to any person who desires to make comment upon matters of general interest to the public. Writers will of course be responsible for their utterances. A a guarantee of good faith, the name and address of the writer of any article submitted for publication will be required in each instance.—Editor Gazette.

Editor Alexandria Gazette:

Will you kindly allow me space to express appreciation of the letter in last night's Gazette, signed "J.W.H." and to supplement, in a measure the question asked, "What has come over the citizens of Alexandria."

"J.W.H." calls attention to the tenor of conservation heard on the street avent the revival being held in the big tent on King street. But, did "J.W.H.", or any other close observer, notice yesterday morning the numbers of women, with the blue revival hymnal tucked under their arms, hurrying in different directions to attend the morning prayer meetings being held in homes in all parts of the city. Has such a sight ever been seen in our old town before?

And that is only a slight testimonial to the great work being done in our midst by this earnest servant of God, Gypsy Smith, jr.,

An Observer.

AN AWFUL PRICE.

The price which Europe is paying for the devastating war staggers the imagination.

It is impossible for the mind to grasp the immensity of the vast sums that are being daily expended in—killing people!

At the end of the second year the total cost in dollars was forty-three billions, one hundred and ninety-three millions, two hundred thousands.

Such a sum expended for good, would have made this old world a paradise, providing thousands of parks, miles of better roads and given almost every man a home now without one.

But worse than the money loss is that of human lives, the end is not yet, and all this carried on by supposed Christian nations!

ANSWERING "YES" OR "NO"

(From the Kansas City Star)

Colonel Waters, who died in Kansas City recently, had practiced law longer than any other lawyer in Kansas City. He was admitted to the bar in Macomb, Ill., before he was 21 years old. Abraham Lincoln was a lawyer practicing in the same district then, and Waters rode in the same circuit with him. Once Colonel Waters retained his friend to help him in a case.

The opposing lawyer demanded one of their witnesses should answer a certain question with a direct "Yes" or "No". Lincoln contended the question could not be answered in that way.

"There's no question on earth that can't be answered with a direct 'Yes' or 'No,'" declared the lawyer.

"You take the stand for a moment and I'll show you," said Lincoln.

The lawyer took the stand and Lincoln asked him: "Have you quit beating your wife?"

The lawyer became indignant and Lincoln repeated his question. The judge, laughed heartily, insisted the lawyer must answer.

With the aid of Lincoln, Waters won the case, Lincoln charged him $25, a large fee in those days.

"DEAD WOOD" IN MINISTRY

Philadelphia, Sept. 20—Rev. George E. Rees, one of the best-known of the older pastors of the city, caused something of a sensation Monday at the weekly meeting of Baptist ministers in First Church, Seventeenth and Sansom streets, by charging the ministry with having a lot of "dead wood" in its ranks. Dr. Rees was in the midst of a paper on "The Clergy" when he suddenly branched off into a bitter denunciation of a certain class of preachers, whom he regarded as an abomination. The speaker dwelt at some length upon the qualities which should characterize a good pastor and then proceeded to place in contrast to them the type of man who neither knows his theology, possesses the personality or feels the inspiration which should characterize the real "prophet."

"We want men in our pulpits," said the veteran clergyman, "Who have a deep theology and who can make it clear and firm to the people. There are some men who carelessly disregard all the traditions of the ministry and preach the Gospel with a carelessness which repels rather than attracts. Many of us preachers, even those of us who think ourselves real prophets, make religion a tedious, irksome duty. Our preaching is prosaic and tiresome, and in no respect like the old-time preaching which attracted such great throngs. It is tame and without saltiness, making it almost a crime to invite a poor congregation to listen to it.

"The successful preacher of today must belong to his age. He cannot afford to indulge in the lauding of the deeds of Samson and Gideon, as they could hardly be practiced in this century. Many of us preach not with a voice but with an echo, and the people won't stand for it."

Dr. Rees concluded by deploring the fact that there were too many in the ministry who were good truth-loving, conscientious men, useful in a variety of ways, but who were never meant to be prophets, and who never should have been placed in the pulpit.

A number of the ministers present expressed their appreciation of the paper, but Rev C. N. Woolston insisted that Dr. Rees was exceedingly hard on the preachers, who could not possibly transform themselves into real prophets, no matter how well they knew their own deficiencies.

SAVES DAUGHTER

Advice of Mother no Doubt Prevents Daughter's Untimely End.

Ready, Ky.—"I was not able to do anything for nearly six months," writes Mrs. Laura Bratcher, of this place, "and was down in bed for three months.

I cannot tell you how I suffered with my head, and with nervousness and womanly troubles.

Our family doctor told my husband he could not do me any good, and he had to give it up. We tried another doctor, but he did not help me.

At last, my mother advised me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. I thought it was no use for I was nearly dead and nothing seemed to do me any good. But I took eleven bottles, and now I am able to do all of my work and my own washing.

I think Cardui is the best medicine in the world. My weight has increased, and I look the picture of health."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, get a bottle of Cardui today. Delay is dangerous. We know it will help you, for it has helped so many thousands of other weak women in the past 50 years.

GAZETTE 120 YEARS AGO

Copy of Ancient Issue Now in Possession of Descendant of One of the Founders

Mark L. Price brought to this office today a copy of the Alexandria Gazette of February 13, 1796, and March 8, of the same year. The Gazette at that time was published by Ellis Price at the east end of the Market House. He was the father of the late Capt. Ellis Price, father of City Auditor E. F. Price and the late Mark L. Price, and great grandfather of the present Mark L. Price, who possesses these interesting relics of the latter part of the eighteenth century.

As was the case in those days, a number of advertisements offering rewards for the capture of runaway negroes appear in the papers. The proceedings of the Legislature of Delaware seem to have formed a feature of the Gazette at that time, as considerable space is alloted to them. The proceedings of the Supreme Court of Judicature of the state of New York was also regarded as interesting reading, while but small space was given the United States Senate.

The following were the city officers at that time:

Jonah Thompson, Mayor. His tomb of the table pattern is still prominent in Christ Church cemetery.

Francis Peyton, Recorder.

Aldermen— John Dundas, James Irvin, Abraham Faw, and Alexander Smith.

Common Councilmen — Charles Simms, George Deneale, William Patton, James Keith, Samuel Craig and Dennis Ramsay.

A treaty of amity between the United States and Great Britain, signed by George Washington, President, appears in the issue of March 8th.

J. M. M'Rea was postmaster of Alexandria at that time.

An advertisement of Carne and Slade appears in the paper. They were dealers in hardware. Mr. Carne was the great-grand-father of the present generation of Alexandrians bearing the name. He came to Alexandria from England after the Revolutionary war and purchased two squares of ground, one bounded by Fairfax, Lee, Jefferson and Greene streets, and the other by Fairfax, Lee, Greene and Church streets, in the extreme southeastern section of the city, upon which he erected two houses. One is a brick house at the southeast corner of Fairfax and Jefferson streets and is still used as a residence.

GULLS RENDERED HELPLESS

Puerto Plata, Santo Domingo, Sept. 20— Crude oil that had been thrown ove board by Uncle Sam's Warships to quell the raging waters which destroyed the U. S. S. Memphis during the recent storm, stuck to the wings of sea gulls and other water fowl taking refuge in the bays along the coast, and rendered them helpless and unable to fly for several days.

Members of the United States Marine Corps, on expeditionary duty at this place, captured hundreds of the birds with their naked hands.

The oil-begrimed fowl wandered up and down on the beach, crying pitifully, while the marines stood guard to see that boys did not harm them.

POLICE COURT

Ernest Levell, charged with disorderly conduct, forfeited his collateral by failing to appear.

Four men, charged with trespass in attempting to place a telephone pole in front of the residence of J. K. M. Norton, had their case continued until tomorrow morning at ten o'clock.

Edward Pinkney, colored, charged with disorderly conduct, was dismissed.

PILOT SHOT IN THE NORTHEAST

Pistol Shot at an Early Hour This Morning Results in Arrest of Two Men

At twenty minutes past one o'clock this morning a pistol shot in the neighborhood of the Alexandria Fertilizer and Chemical Company's plant at the extreme northeastern section of the city attracted some attention, and later Sergeant Wilkinson and special Officer Allen at the fertilizer plant arrested two men, one giving his name as F. Luther and the other Ernest Levell. They were conducted to the station house. Luther was charged with firing a pistol in the street and with carrying concealed weapons and Levell with disorderly conduct. Luther left $20 collateral and Levell $5. When the case was called at nine o'clock this morning neither party appeared and they forfeited their deposits.

The origin of the trouble could not be learned, and the presence of the two men in that neighborhood at such an unusual hour is also unknown.

The Gazette yesterday called attention to the increasing number of persons arrested in Alexandria for carrying concealed weapons. This is the third case before Police Court this week.

Nearly 300 Bodies Recovered Below Broken White Desse Dam.

Berlin, Sept. 20—The loss of life in the Bohemian flood resulted from the breaking of the White Desse dam may reach one thousand.

Hundreds of persons are missing, and it is feared their bodies will be found inside the houses floating down stream or entangled in floating debris Nearly 300 bodies already have been recovered. SIX MEN KILLED

Chemical Works Wrecked by Mysterious Explosion

Huntingdon, Pa., Sept. 20—Six men were killed today when an explosion wrecked part of the plant of the Aetna Chemical Company at Mt. Union, near here.

The blast occurred in the building occupied by the air dry department. Its cause may never be determined.

ALLEGED TRESPASSING

Former Judge Norton Objects to Telephone Co's. Pole in Front of His Home

A case is on the docket of the Police Court which will be interesting to those of our citizens who have a decided objection to the placing of poles in front of their residences. Four men, employees of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, were cited to appear in the court this morning to show cause why they should not be fined for trespass in attempting to place a pole for their wires in front of the residence of former Judge J. K. M. Norton, southeast corner of Prince and Washington streets. Judge Norton was in court to plead his case and Gardner L. Boothe appeared on behalf of the defendants. It was agreed to that the case be postponed until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The outcome of this case will be watched with interest, as on previous occasions in Alexandria, when property-owners have objected to the planting of poles on the curb line in front of residences, they have been erected nolens volens. On one occasion several years ago, a resident of upper King street, when a pole had been placed in front of his house after he had expressed his objection to the procedure, procured an ax and chopped it down.

GERMAN AMMUNITION LOW

Officers told To Conserve Their Supplies — In Order Captured by British.

London, Sept. 20.—General Falkenhayn, until recently chief of the German general staff, directed a letter to his officers declaring that the wastage of guns during recent months had exceeded their production, and also that ammunition supplies were dwindling rapidly, General Haig reported to the war office this afternoon.

A document captured by the British in the recent fighting, bearing Falkenhayn's signature, urged the Germans to conserve their supplies.

The situation between the Ancre and the Somme underwent no change last night. Minor British enterprises near Arras were successful.

Rather than submit to the demands of its 7,000 cigarette makers who want recognition of their union, the American Tobacco Company has decided to move its plants from New York to Richmond, Va., and Durham, N. C., The work of transferring the machinery started yesterday. Unless the strike, now in progress, is called off, the shipment of machinery will continue. The labor supply in Richmond and Durham the company officials declare, is more than adequate to handle its cigarette business now taken care of in the New York plant.

Virginia is to have a settlement of foreigners, who will conduct a dairy farm on an extensive scale. Frank Horop, a Dane, whose home is near Chicago is in Richmond seeking information regarding a location. He represents fifty Danish families, and it is their intention to purchase a farm of about 2,000 acres in Virginia and establish a model dairy and creamory. Mr. Horop said they expect to spend $50,000 for their farm and that although he has not succeeded in finding one to suit his needs as yet, the settlement will be made in Virginia.

It is stated in the most reliable diplomatic sources at Athens that the Austrians are preparing for the evacuation of Trieste.

Fred Jeni, professional racing chauffeur, who eloped three years ago with the young daughter of a rich family, shot her yesterday in the barn of her father's summer home at Patchogue, Long Island. Stung at the prospect of losing her through a divorce suit, which her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Olson, had influenced her to bring against him, he fired five bullets all of which struck her.

Whether or not there will be a big walk-out of union men of New York in support of the car men is being settled, not in the hotel where the labor leaders gather, but in the flats of Harlem and the Bronx and the tenements of the east and west sides. There union leaders report the most serious opposition to a comprehensive strike has developed. "The women," they say, "are against sympathetic strikers. They can't see why their men ought to strike for the car men."

Police were searching Paterson N. J., last night for a man with a long gray beard who last evening drenched Mathilda Sarlour, 21 years, with carbolic acid as she was on her way to her home, in Hawthorne. The acid was dashed at her face, but she dodged and it ate into her left shoulder, arm and side. Miss Sarlour said she never had seen the man before. Despite the girl's assertion that she has no enemies, one of the police theories is that the man who threw the acid was a young man who wore the beard as a disguise.

A close contest between Governor Charles S. Whitman, Republican, and Judge Samuel Seabury, Democrat, for the Progressive indorsement for the Gubernatorial nomination in New York, was indicated by early returns, last night from the State-wide primaries. The indications were that Whitman would be the victor. William M. Calder, Republican, and William F. McCombs, Democrat, apparently were assured of the nomination for United States Senator.

John W. Chism, shot and killed himself at 760 Sixth street southeast Washington, about 2 o'clock this morning. About ten o'clock he had shot and killed Mrs. Blanche Hamell at 100th and M streets southeast.

Pope Benedict XV has sent to Monsignor La Fontaine, Patriarch of Venice, a letter deploring the repeated aerial attacks made by the Austrians on that city "dear to the papal heart and precious to religion and art." The letter states that the Pope has vainly remonstrated with Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, but exhorts the inhabitants to show courage and patience, at the same time expressing the hope that the aerials incursions will decrease.

Queen Wilhelmina, in opening Parliament said that Holland will continue her policy of neutrality. In her speech from the throne the Queen said: "We are firmly resolved to defend our independence and maintain our rights against any one seeking to attack us. The military forces are being augmented, also the supplies of arms and munitions. The economic life of the country every day is being more affected by the circumstances of the war; therefore the government was obliged to take measures to supply the people with food and restricting exports.."

and roam about the city at large, with no boundary to their districts.

Besides those who were injured after darkness set in, more than a score were hurt by strike violence or street car accidents in the daylight hours. All in all, it was a day and night for New York to remember.

The night riot started with a bombardment of strike breakers as they left the car barns at Fifty-sixth street and Ninth avenue. No sooner had the reserves landed there and dispersed the crowds than another source of danger and excitement was discovered and taken advantage of by the West Side toughs. Bonfires began to blaze in almost every street, and it looked like an old-time election night.

ROUMANIANS WIN VICTORY

ing. The struggle is becoming violent at that point, and also around Poroj, northeast of Lake Doiran, where Bulgarians and Italians are engaged.

Berlin dispatches today indicate that the great battle expected to develop along the new Russo-Roumanian front south of the Constanza railway may already be in its early stages. The German war office announced that the Russo-Roumanian line had been penetrated at several points.

Two U. S. Seamen on Ship.

Two American seamen were aboard the British steamer Strathtay, which was torpedoed in the English Channel by a German submarine on September 6, Counsul General Skinner at London reported to the State Department today.

The men are William Wootton, 104 North Third street, Harrison, N. J., and Bernard Sweeney, 21 East Twenty third street, Bayonne, N. J.

The Strathtay previously had been reported sunk but no mention was made as to the cause. The Americans have reported to the consul and he is forwarding their affidavits to Washington, the cable stated.

Skinner's cable did not say whether the men gave any details of the Strathtay's sinking that would show why they believe the boat was torpedoed.
